Trying To Collect
From Small Powers

Geneva, Tuesday-The secret is  The matter taken up at the secret session of the 72nd meeting of the League of Nations Council was nothing more or less than how to make members, particularly the small powers, kick through with their dues.The depression, apparently, has not left the league unscathed. Financial stringency was the topic of conversation at the meeting and unless dues are paid up the league is going to be put to it tc make both ends meet during the present year.

The league council has issued an urgent appeal to all member nations to pay their dues immediately in order that work may be carried out according to schedule.
The world economic conference is going to drain the league's resources severely, for the Geneva body has the somewhat doubtful honor of paying expenses of organizing the parley.

 AFTER TAKING DRUG in hotel in palmaSuicidal Dose Was Taken With Cup Of Tea, Doctor Thinks; Tragedy Is Believed Result Of Mental Disorder.

The body of Ramona Portabella Padró, a young woman of 30 who arrived on the Island from Barcelona recently, was found in the room of her hotel Monday noon Presumably, she had committed suicide.
Poisonous powders were found in the room by a doctor, who stated that he believed Sra. Portabella had taken the drug in a cup of tea.
The doctor also found that the woman had been dead for some time, indicating that the tragedy ocurred about $5 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. Sunday, at which time a maid in the hotel took the young woman a cup of tea.
The maid reports that nothing led her to believe there was anything amiss at the time she took the tea to the room.
Police in Barcelona, called by the local authorities, were able to add certain information to the facts known here that leads tc the belief that Sra. Portabella was suffering from a mental disorder. Officers investigating the death are unable to find any reason for a suicide, and convinced that the woman did take her own life, are inclined to accept the belief of the Barcelona police that she was unbalanced, at least temporarily.
The authorities have taken charge of the body and are trying to locate relatives or friends.
So far, the search has been unsuccessful and it is feared that the woman will have to be buried at once, as the law of Mallorca requires almost immediate interment.

Consultative Pact,

 Norman Davis HintsGeneva, Tuesday - Hope is held here today that the United States will join European powers in a consultative peace pact, as a result of a remark uttered by Norman Davis, America's roving ambassador.
Davis, stating the United States position in the matter of the prevention of war, said that America desires to help in the effective organization of peace and if peace is threatened she will be ready tc consult with non-aggressor nations.
The remark was taken as something more than a hint that, if a consultative pact is drawn up. America will be found ready to sign it.

The roving ambassador declared that, if peace were broken by one nation, others would have to con. fer with each other to decide what steps should be taken to bring the agressor country ts terms.
Furthermore, Davis made bones about giving President Roosevelt credit for taking the initiative in suggesting a consultative pact. This statement, to some extent, counteracted the feeling that Roosevelt is not ready to sign such an agreement. Chancellor Adolf Hitler has sur- Hitler said. like message was expected.

Also aquitted were the three Miralles brothers, who, along with Luca de Tena, were given their unconditional liberty at once.

Most serious of the charges brought against the men was the accusation of treason, but they were also held on counts ranging rom manslaughter to arson. Some of the aquitted have been held in prison ever since they were indicted, but Luca de Tena has enjoyed his liberty and only

Muscle Shoals Dam Was Erected For Explosive Nitrogen

EDITOR'S NOTE: Herewith is the final article on the history of Muscle Shoals, written by Jim Walton, 80-year-old columnist on the Europa, Miss., Webster Progress.
by Jim waiton

Written for the United Press (Copyright, 1933)

Europa, Miss.,-The Panama Canal was completed in 1915, or 402 years after Balboa scaled Calebra Hill and gazed on the placid wa ters of the Pacific.
But Muscle Shoals, seemingly had been forgotten. A shot in the Balkans was the signal for the greatest war in history-the World War.
Now, nitrogen is a highly prized chemical in the manufacture of explosives as well as a very important element in fertilizers used extensively by farmers. It takes nitrogen to carry on a war and nitrogen to do farming. Until Bausch, a German scientist, discovered a process for extracting nitrogen from the air, the world had to depend on the nitrate beds

China Found Lacking In Great Athletes;  Coolies Should Be Good Distance Runners

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

United Press Staff Correspondent
ShanghaI-China, with its vast population of $400,000,000$-onefifth of the human race-has never produced an athlete of great renown, so far as I know.
Through the centuries the Chinese never bothered with sports, They were too busy with other things-commerce, art, industry, farming, barter and trade, political intrigue and religion.
This vast country, half-way around the globe from the United States, may never develop an Olympic champion, a tennis player of the first magnitude, a boxer of championship caliber, or a famous athlete, but the yellow race ibilities of awakened to the postremendous advances in the last few years.
One of the main reasons for China's total neglect of sports was its old educational system. Under this system, instruction was personal and not on a group basis Students worked with private tutors to acquire knowledge of the Chinese classics in preparation for tions and there was no opportun ity for encouraging athletics.
This old educational system was abolished by the Republican government in 1912 and a new on similar, in a general way, to our own adopted. This change eventduction of athleties on a group scale, and there is not a city in hina today in which there is not some form of athletic activity.
The most popular game is association football (soccer). Basketball comes next, and then tennis and track and field. It will be recalled that China sent one athlete to the Olympic games at Los Angeles, and his expenses were derayed by an individual. Sadly enough, he was eliminated in the first trial in which he participated. There is no reason why China cannot produce a great long-distance or marathon runner. Any prominent American track coach, believe, could select at random hundred coolies who pull rickshaws, and develop half a dozen good distance runners from the group in a year's time.
Having seen the coolies, barefooted, poorly-clad and probably ill-nourished, pulling rickshaws through mud, snow, and slush, in cold and hot weather, up hill and down incline, I know they have the stamina and courage to compete in long-distance running races. They can run for hours at a time, and never seem to tire. Considering that they pull loads ranging from 150 to 250 pounds, it does not seem unreasonable to presume that they might be able to develop speed running outside the shafts of a rickshaw.
The catch to this assumption is that there might be a dozen Jim from Thorpes amorg the coolie class, (Continued on page 8)

Chicago Golfing Is

By KENNETH D. FRY

United Press Staff Correspondent Chicago-Visitors to the World's air-A Century of Progress-at Chicago this year are being invited to bring along their golf clubs, and prepare to take advantage of over 200 private and public courses in and around Chicago.
Since it is expected that around 400,000 golfers will be visiting the World's Fair, the Chicago District Golf Association has opened official golf headquarters for visitors in conjunction with the Chicago Golfer and Country Club Review monthly golf magazine published here.
The headquarters will give out complete information for visiting golfers about the 220 courses available in the Chicago district. Many private clubs will lay down the «welcome» mat to members of affiliated clubs thoroughout the United States. Daily fee courses, some of them among the most attractive courses in the district, have made their fairways and greens better than ever this year.
Harry E. Radix, president of the Chicago District Golf Association, is enthusiastic over the move.

Interesting But Untrue

Under the title «Mallorca», the Paris edition of the Chicago Tribune printed á few days ago an account of 'this Island. The fact that the account was not true detracted nothing from its interest. Mallorca, we learn, enjoys an equable climate all year round. The scool breezes that drift down from the mountains and circle above the Mediterranean» are mentioned, but not the snowfall that drifted along with them last January.
Europeans, we learn from the ediffying article, come here in the summer to escape the heat of the continent. While we have never found the heat insufferable here in the summer, the fact remairs that the mercury climbs sevelal degrees higher than it does, say in France.
But enough for that part of the article. After all, there are advertisers to be gunned for, and writers of resort news, like poets, must be granted a certain amount of license.
Not until the author took up the customs of the Mallorcans did he reach the acme of inaccuracy.
Mallorcan girls, even if engaged to be married, are not allowed to go out unaccompanied by a chaperone, we learn. Yet any Mallorcan will tell you that the «dueña» cusually misspelled «duenna» by American anl English writers) only exists in the minds of novelists, save in certain snobbish circles in Cuba and South America, Where it is considered smart to be Castillian, even to the extent of retaining customs long since abandoned in Castille.
It is, of course, true that some families stick to the custom of Chaperoning their daughters, just as certain families do in New York. But one has only to enter know that many Mallorcan girls can that many Mallorcan girls young men, with no chaperones in

FASHIONS IN PARIS

BX MARY KNIGHT

United Press Staff Correspondent
Paris-Patou does a tennis dress in white silk shirting that has a little «afterthought» opening down the back and very smart flaps at the side of the skirt which seem to be the termination of the panels that form the two sides of the skirt. Between them in the back are plenty of pleats so that movement is unhampered. The tennis has designed to go with it fits the back of the head like the back part of a baby bonnet just to the crown of the head and is lattice work from there to the forehead where a little sun-shade awning is added. This widens slightly at each side and tapers again in the back. There is a small bow directly in front composed of the ends of the lattice strips.

Lyolene likes trousers for women when on the beach or being «sporty.» She has made one very attractive pair of "white striped wool, adding to the ensemble a blouse of striped cotton in blue, yellow and white. The finishing touch is a handkerchief of blue dotted linen which is tied nonchantly around the throat, the ends left to blow over the shoulder.

Among the many novelty hats offered smart women is a little «Devil Hat» with wings instead of horns placed in front on the crown just vhere the horns normally would be.

The hat is made by Jane Blanchot of Scotch straw and the small horn-shaped wings are of white feathers. The effect is very unusual especially when such a model is given the bare suggestion of a rakish tilt.

Another noteworthy hat of the moment is worn by Mile. Yvonne de la Chapelle Croisville and designed by Esther Meyer. The material is of silver-blue straw, shallow sailor crown and soft, slightly rolled brim trimmed with a band of black laque satin. The brim rolls upward on the left side to show the forehead and neat hair-line.

Mata Hari's Killer Now Called (sSofb) Man

By United Pre'ss
Paris-Death of the most feared secret service agent in Europe, Commandant Georges Ladoux, 1918 chief of the wartime French «Deuxieme Bureau,> has been followed by disclosures of a bizarre contradiction in the character of the sleuth who placed Mata Hari before a firing squad.
graduate of St. Cyr, later à captain in the Alpine Chasseurs, Ladoux was called in by Marshal Joffre for confidential service. He organized.
espionage.
More professional than military,
Ladoux was known personally to nly a few Parisians, although his tenacity was celebrated. Of the inner circle was Mme. Marthe Richet, one of his trusted agents. Mme. Richet, the central figure of Ladoux's post-war memoirs, «The Skylark», has revealed two contrasting facts regarding him, one bearing on Mata Hari, the other on his domestic life.
Mme. Richet relates that the Javanese dancer, in 1916 performing at the Cirque Molier in Paris, was presented to Ladoux by one of his agents, Lieut. Jean Hallaume. The seemingly mild head of the «Deuxieme Bureau» made her an offer, unaware she already was in German employ.
When Ladoux later learned of er deception his rage was unontrollable.
«Once he had her safely in a cell at St. Lazaire Prison,> Mme. Richet recounts, «Ladoux washed his hands of her. He once told me, 'She sent thousands of Frenchmen to death. I won't raise my little finger to help her now'. He watched her die behind the Vincennes dungeon on May 26, 1918.

But «The Skylark,» long since decorated with the Legion of Honor for her own daring services to France, also reveals the unexpected soft side of the merciless spy hunter. Of four «war orphans» Ladoux adopted, one was the small son of a German spy, a Bavarian officer, likewise executed at Vincennes.

Akron Mail Packet

Discovered In Tree

By United Press

Seattle-As if a ghost of the past had suddenly appeared, a grim reminder of the visit of the dirigible Akron over Seattle last May, was discovered with the finding of a packet of three letters tied to a parachute handkerchief, in a tree north of Seattle city limits.
Instructions on the outside of the packet read, «Please mail these. They were written while we passed over Bremerton Navy Yard.» The three etters had three uncancelled air mail stamps on them.
The writing was clear on the letters considering the time they hung in the tree. One of the writers was among the missing when the Akron met with disaster recently.

STUDIO STAR DUST

By ALANSON EDWARDS
United Press Staff Correspondent
Hollywood-Mae West, the Diamond Lil, looks for beer and Hollywood to join in a plot to bring back good old pre-war feminine curves and roundness to American women.
«Beer, as we all know, is wonderful for helping women add a few pounds in just the right places,> remarks the eminent sociologist, Miss West «And you can't tell' me that there'll be many women who won't go for beernot with their husbands and boy friends going for it in a great big way!»
Hollywood comes into the picture because it has to give the customers what it wants, avers Mae.
«There'll be so many women with curves, from beer, that the movie moguls will find fuller figures popular and fashionable,> she predicts. «The girls built like me, for instance, will get a break.»
Travis Banton, who creates the clothes worn by Miss West and many other stars, endorses her prognostications. Or at least he agrees that women can't drink beer and retain svelte figures.
He pointed out that styles, before the advent of beer, were changing back to a less exaggerated mode of feminine garments such as were popular 25 years ago. They emphasized the roundness and ultra-femininity of form rather than modern angularity.
The current cycle of motion pictures dealing with that period also will have its effect upon women's styles, Banton believes. Marlene Dietrich will be seen in the picturesque raiment of 1907 in her new flicker, «The Song of Songs,» while Sylvia Sidney wears a flattering garb of 1904-1914 in a flattering garb of 1904-1914 in «Jennie Gerhardt.»

Tribute Paid Chopin By Manuel de Falla And Mgr．Thomas At Valldemosa Festival

By Viva Liebling

An example of the changing spirit of the world was evinced yesterday in the tribute paid by a great modern musician to a great one of the past．Manuel de Falla one of the finest of living composers and worthy to be ran－ ked with the greatest of all time achieved even higher prestige with the brilliant homage he ren－ dered Frederic Chopin，Sunday The occasion was the Chopin Fes tival held annually at the beau－ tiful monastery of Valldemosa． These festivals started three years ago by Mgr．Juan Thomás，have become each year of greater mu－ sical importance and significance．． This year they have indeed rea－ ched a high peak and Mgr．Tho－ más is to be congratulated on his extraordinary achievement．
The program opened with four Chopin piano selections played by erszy Sulikowski，followed by four Chopin songs，sung by Jad－ wiga Hennert soprano；both ar－ tists．of the Societe des Jeunes dir Musiciens Polonais．They both re－to Palma with the noted，George vealed evidence of excellent trai－Copeland as soloist．

Race Driver Fears
Speedway Publicity

By United Press

Indianapolis－Cliff Bergere，who finished third in the annual Me － morial Day 500 －mile automobile race last year，has requested the speedway press bureau to use his name as sparingly as possible this year．
«I＇m superstitious，» he ex－ plained，«and everytime I get a lot of publicity something hap－ pens to me during the race．» who had reduced their ranking voluntarily for reasons of their own，will be classified in the new private grade without further ning，but are not yet sufficiently prepared to appear before the pu－ blic．

Following the Chopin numbers were a group of Polish chorals sung by the Capella Classica of Mallorca．The magnificently trai－ ned choir under the efficient ba－presen ton on Mgr．Thomas，achieved some exquisite effects in the two 15th century chorals．The last number of the group was a mo－ dern cantata by Felix Labunski， an impressive composition of gre－ at charm．
Manuel de Falla＇s tribute to Chopin，an extract from the Cho－ pin ballade in F major，adapted by him for the Capella Classica， was next on the program．The number so delighted the audience that it had to be repeated；de Falla，gaciously acknowledged the applause．The afternoon ended with a marvelously sung mass of Palestrina．
The Festival continues on June
The Little Club is dead
A week or so after one false wake，at which the supposed corp－ se tapped lightly on the coffin and came up for air，the end rea－ y came，and no mourners were resent．
the Marvil，one of the parents club，was in Germany when he doctors pronounced the pa tient dead and tacked a notice to that effect on the door．
André Aubin，who might best be described as the godfather of the Little Club，was likewise away at the time of the demise．Those few mourners who sat around in the candle light at the time of the resurrection failed to arrive for the final exit，perhaps because the cry of «Wolf» had been heard before．
Major Gough，who injected a shot of adrenalin in the shape of good pesetas into the invalid du－ ring its last sinking spell，is on his way to England．
The major＇s attempt to save the club failed when he alienated the affections of his best customer， who made it plain by word and right hook that he had no use for the savior Debts are outstanding against the Little Club as a company and against Fred Marvil，whose law－ yer was instrumental in posting the plaster on the door． André Aubin，according to his former employes，owes no one and is out of pocket himself as a reward for trying to stave off the end．

They were paid overtime, but the union appeared to enforce their eight-hour day. Matter is still being disputed. Most of the pipe-line, however, which will run as far as Casa Delaney, had already been laid Water is expected to spurt sometime next month.

Baron von Herman, who operates Blanc y Blau, local flower shop, pulled off a smart piece of propaganda lately when he had printed green throwaways, announcing in Spanish, English, French and German, that he is now also offering at his shop Son Bruy, in Pollensa.

Others are Temporal Costa Brave de Mallorca, Vagant pel Bosc, and Cala Gentil, which describes the beach where the Hotel Formentor is now located. Apart from his Castillian lyrics The Vision of Palestine, and Hoacianas, he wrote a little book called Del Agre de la Terra, which contains a series of narrative poems typically Mallorcan in spiNot the best of these, but per haps the most interesting for foreigners who visit Mallorca, is La Gerreta de Catiu, or The Legend of Formentor. This poem refers to known places around Puerto de Pollensa, Formentor and the Castillo del Rey. It is a historical le gend of the year 1540, when pirate attacks on the island were frequent. The difficulties of a translation into English of this work practically insurmountable The whole lovely cadence of the poet's writing could not be capured, to say nothing of keeping intact. Livelihood From Soil

Baton Rouge, La.-Another example of the American pioneering spirit is seen at the farm home of 65 -year-old James H. Wyatt, 20 miles north of here.
Wyatt came here with his wife last September, homeless, but spurning charity. He looked about for a means of livelihood, and found he could acquire 27 acres of land on very convenient terms. The gray-haired couple moved onto the land, pitched a tent for shelter, and set out to make a home for themselves. Wyatt built a house wih lumber from an old building that had been torn down on the place
Later he acquired four hogs and a few chickens. His vegetable gar den was enlarged. Today, through a system of swapping products with his neighbors and selling enough eggs and vegetables at the city market to get essential cash able home.

 Angered By Lyons;
Quits Pollensa Club

The first internal rift in the Pollensa Sailing Club occured on Thursday when Theodor Pratt, secretary of the Club since its formation last year, resigned as secretary. The reason Pratt gave was that the treasurer of the club and he did not agree on certain matters of procedure, and it was therefore no longer comfortable for him to serve as an officer or as a member of the saiing committee. Pratt also anncunced that he will not enter future races.
Fritz Lyons, treasurer of the club, last week branded as a iie an account of a recent sailing race written for this paper by Pratt. The account, in full, was: «In the Thursday morning race of the Pollensa Sailing Club, Doormouse, skippered by Colone Bostock, captured first place, and Gaviota, skippered by Major Meade, secoñ. New Yorker, with Fritz Lyons at the tiller, came in first but was disqualified for using an oar while gybing around buoy.»
The disqualification of New Yorker, sailed by Lyons, was brought about on the protest of Captain Barley, chairman of the sailing committee, and Major Meade, who claimed that New Yorker used an oar while gybing around a buoy. First place flag in that race went to Doormouse second place flag to Gaviota.
Pratt says he waited several days for Lyons to explain his accusation, which was made in public, that the article was a lie. When no explanation was forthcoming, he felt placed in a posion where it was necessary to make a statement to PALMA POST

A. Lincoln's Village

By United Press
Petersburg, Ill.-Dedication of Abraham Lincoln's home town, the village of New Salem, will take place some time in June. Inclement weather has hindered the restoration of the cabins, delaying dedication plans.
It originally was planned to hold the dedication May 7 because that was the 100th anniversary of Lincoln's commission as post masare being restem. Thirteen cabins been glazed, notched and served.
Efforts are being made to secure furniture and articles that were owned by residents of the pioneer village, or that belonged to the 1830 period.
Interiors of the stores and shops, including counter, shelves, cracker barrels, ginger snap kegs, bolts of calico and old-fashioned candy jars, will be replicas of those of Lincoln's time.

Muscle Shoals Dam Was Erected For Explosive Nitrogen

in Chile.

In '17, the United States became a principal party in the great war, and the German U-boat threat gave much uneasiness. True, our ships could go through the Panto and from Chile by several thouama Canal and shorten the trip sand miles, but U-boats might lurk in the neighborhood on either side of the canal and torpedo our cargoes.
To forestall this, U. S. Senator John H. Bankhead, father of the present senator from Alabama by that name, and also father of Congressman W. B. Bankhead from the same state, introduced a Senate bill to build a nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals with power used from the Alabama Power Company's steam plant at Gorgas, Ala The bill also provided for the building of a great dam at Muscle Shoals, with which to furnish power for nitrate plants in which munitions and fertilizers were to be manufactured.
The story of the project from the time Senator Bankhead's bill became effective to the present is history. The size of the dam, the cost of construction and the gerrymandering of politicians are too well known to attract passing notice here.
But the wasted waters that idly thunder through the 58 sluice gates at Muscle Shoals soon are destined to serve a useful purpose for the first time since the icy flood roared over the tilted ledge in the dawn of time, millions of years ago.
Franklin Delano Roosevelt seems to be the answer to the oft asked ta question
«What shall we do with Muscle Shoals?»

ART IN REVIEW

By Clatre van scoy

By CLAIRE VAN SCOY

Dimitri Tsapline, the Russian sculptor who has been so extensively written about and discussed is showing 21 of his smaller pieces at the Circulo Mallorquin until une 1 quality about this art's work which is individual and hard to define. Extremely compact, with no detachment of parts, simple in contour, the stone in many places left untouched, at first glance one might not be impressed. But soon through the abstract masses, reality makes itself felt-the real spirit of the bird, fish, tiger or elephant. The life force speaks rather than the outward aspect.
There is no «technical swagger» in Tsapline's work, no flourish or affectation. Where «distortion» is used it is for the sake of emotional or formal intensification. Surface likeness is abandoned for expressive reality. Detail is used sparingly-for decoration rather than imitation. Note the delicate modelling of the toes, hands and face in Fugure de Bois (19)

Even in far-awa China they must have heard of the late Knute Rockne, for the account of the game states that Lingman «started with its secondstring players and kept them in for the first quarter.>
Rockne's old strategy worked well for Lingman, as the regulars promptly made two touchdowns in the second period and won the game, 12-0.

by Chicago golfers this year. We want every person coming to Chicago to bring along a bag of clubs if he wants to play. We will take care of him. We want visitors to feel at home in local golf circles and have a visit they will remember for many years.»
Also to be considered are the many visitors and players who will be here for such events as the National Open. Western Open, Women's National, Women's Wes tern, Women's International team matches and the other big golf events scheduled for Chicago courses this summer
Plans for the golf registration bureau have been worked out in co-operation with the Association Commerce, Hotel Men's Asso ciation, World's Fair and golf lubs.

Courses interested in extending privileges to visitors will sell guest tickets through the bureau, where all arrangements between club and player will be made.
An investigation has shown that most private clubs have been used for an average of 13,000 rounds of golf per season. Public fees courses will average about 17,500 rounds.
