

RENEWAL OF WAR IN FAR EAST

JAPANESE NEAR PEIPING

25-MILE FRONT

PEIPING, Thursday

Renewing hostilities in China proper, Japanese and Manchukuoan troops crossed a pass in the Great Wall after a whirlwind attack on unsuspecting Chinese guards and are marching on Peiping today.

The advance guard of the invading army, which is stretched over a twenty-five mile front, is reported only 100 miles away from this ancient capital.

Already the nearby cities of Kuyuan, Tungshatze and Tushikow have been subjected to attack by Japanese bombing planes, armoured cars and field guns. Tushikow, it will be remembered, was bombed two years ago, when the Japanese made an advance that nearly took them to Peiping. On that occasion, Tushikow could only be reached by the planes of the attackers. Now it is within shell range. The Japanese are nearer Peiping than they ever were in the original attack.

Trench warfare is already underway in the Chinese province of Cahar, where the advance guard of the Japanese has been reinforced by tanks. Unless the Chinese defenders are reinforced immediately, it is doubtful if they can hold out against the invasion.

Considerable speculation occurs here as to the objective of the Japanese army. The line of march leads to the suspicion that this time they are out in dead earnest to take Peiping.

Capture of Peiping by the Japanese could have but one end, unless the occupation were broken by

U. S. AND COURT

MR. ROOSEVELT IN DISAGREEMENT

WASHINGTON, Thursday

President Roosevelt advanced a serious objection today to the proposal of Senator Norris that the entry of the United States into the World Court be made to hinge upon the ratification of the entrance Bill by two-thirds of the Senate.

Such an agreement, said Mr. Roosevelt, would have the effect of depriving him of presidential prerogatives. To this infringement upon his power he could not agree.

In the President's opinion, the Bill must be passed in the regular manner, which means by both Houses of Congress, and must then be submitted to him for his signature or, in case of his disapproval of the form taken by the Bill, his veto.

Observers here believe that Mr. Roosevelt is not only protecting his own rights, but is also taking steps to see that entrance into the Court does not involve America in European entanglements.

As reported yesterday, provisions have been made to prevent participation in the World Court at the Hague becoming of such a nature that the United States would find herself a partisan in case of European conflicts.

Also, the United States will not enter the Court unless it is agreed that other Court members will refrain from interfering in purely domestic trials. This stipulation was made in order to maintain the United States Supreme Court in its present position as the highest and final court of the nation.

Apparently, President Roosevelt is by no means certain that the Bill is framed in such a way that the demands of the United States cannot be circumvented, for he is determined that it shall not become law without first earning

SAAR POLICE INSPECTOR

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

OFFICIAL VERSION

PARIS, Thursday

The Saar Governing Commission issued an official statement last night on the arrest of Police Inspector Tilk for killing Herr Paul Meyer, a merchant who is described as a noted Separatist in press despatches received here from Saarbruecken.

Inspector Tilk, who is a German officer of the Saar police force, shot Herr Meyer on Monday and was arrested on Tuesday. He will be tried by the Supreme Plebiscite Court.

«The arrest of Police Inspector Tilk,» the official statement reads, «was ordered by the representative of the state prosecutor at the Supreme Plebiscite Court, who had made investigations on the spot. Tilk was taken into custody because he was strongly suspected of having killed the merchant Paul Meyer deliberately.

«The examining magistrate at the Supreme Plebiscite Court issued a warrant for Tilk's arrest on January 22 because Tilk was suspected of having committed a crime and to be likely to attempt to flee from justice.»

Considerable excitement has been caused by the arrest of the police officer, who is said by his friends to have killed Herr Meyer in self-defence. They say that Inspector Tilk went to arrest the merchant on a warrant charging him with defalcation, and that the wanted man violently resisted arrest and tried to shoot the inspector.

That version of the affair is accepted by several Saarland newspapers, which assert that Herr Mayer played a prominent part in the Separatist movement in the Rhineland at the time of the occupation of the Ruhr, and that he enjoyed the special protection of M. Heimbürger, French member of the Governing Commission. M. Heimbürger is alleged to have insisted on Herr Tilk's incarceration. Altogether 2,500 inhabitants of the Saar have emigrated into France since January 13, according to a report furnished to the French Cabinet yesterday by M. Herriot. They include 1,973 Saarlanders, 85 Frenchmen and 442 persons of other nationalities.

The Saar refugees are to be accommodated for the time being in camps at Toulouse, Montauban and Carcassonne.

BULGARIAN UNITY

NEW CABINET POPULAR

SOPIA, Thursday

The new Bulgarian Government headed by General Zlateff, who succeeded M. Georgieff as Premier on Tuesday, is being hailed by the press here as representing the indissoluble unity of the King, army and people and expressing their determination to preserve the national unity.

Chief of Police Natsheff, a prominent supporter of the outgoing premier has been dismissed. General Tanoffski, commander of the Sofia garrison, has been appointed to succeed him.

A photograph of King Boris with the members of the Zlateff Cabinet has been published in the press. Its appearance is regarded as disquieting owing to the probability that the King will be regarded as identified with the Cabinet and held responsible for whatever mistakes it may make.

The attitude of the press however represents faithfully the general popular reaction in favour of King Boris which has been noted here since the change of ministry. That feeling manifests itself particularly in the form of hostility to M. Veltcheff, creator and leader of the Officers' League.

The League carried out the coup d'état of last May, the object of which was to limit the powers of the crown. Veltcheff himself was rumoured to have been arrested when the appointment of General Zlateff as premier was announced.

M. Georgieff handed in the resignation of his cabinet after he had

DANZIG AND POLAND

OPEN CONFERENCE DECISION

ACCORD REACHED

DANZIG, Thursday

President Greiser of the City Senate returned from Geneva yesterday confident that negotiations in which he had been engaged with Foreign Minister of Poland had resulted in an accord between Danzig and neighboring nation.

Colonel Beck, President Greiser said, had shown an extraordinarily friendly attitude towards the City.

From now on, the President continued, any disputes between Danzig and Poland would be laid out in open discussion between the two governments involved. There would be no more squabbling before the League of Nations.

In the past, it has not been possible for the statement of Danzig and Poland to find a common ground upon which to base discussions. Thanks to Colonel Beck's friendly attitude, it is now believed that this difficulty has been erased.

While in Geneva, Colonel Beck and President Greiser agreed that the former should shortly have Danzig to continue the discussions. This visit will be a return call. President Greiser had journeyed to Warsaw to lay the preliminary lines of discussion with the Polish Foreign Minister before the meeting later in Geneva.

Next Wednesday President Greiser will travel to Bialowiesch to be present at the great annual meeting given by the President of Poland, M. Moszicki, for the various accredited ambassadors in Warsaw.

COUNT KEYSERLING IN MALLORCA

Count Hermann von Keyserling, the celebrated Estonian philosopher and lecturer, has arrived in Mallorca, and is to lecture this evening on «The Future of Mediterranean Culture» at the Salón Mallorca under the auspices of the Associació per la Cultura de Mallorca.

Count Keyserling arrived in Palma on Wednesday morning from Gerona by way of Barcelona. He was met on the quay by Don José Sureda y Blanes, President of the Associació per la Cultura, and Don Francisco Vidal.

The philosopher intends to spend about a week in Mallorca. During that time he will visit a number of places on the Island.

He will be in Palma however to take part in some informal philosophical discussions arranged by the Associació per la Cultura. The first of them will take place at the Hotel Alfonso on Saturday at 6 p.m., and its theme will be «Mechanism and Culture».

M. Francis de Miomandre, the French writer, is one of those who intend to be present. All who attend the discussions will be able to air their views, raise their objections or invite solutions to their doubts relating to the subjects announced.

Count Keyserling, when not travelling and lecturing, makes his headquarters at the «School of Wisdom» which he founded at Darmstadt. He is no stranger to Mallorca, where he conducted a «Philosophy Week» at Formentor on his last visit.

TRANSPACIFIC AIRPLANE ROUTE

WASHINGTON, Thursday

Another link in the forthcoming commercial air route over the Pacific Ocean was forged today when the directors of the Pan-American Airways applied to the Navy Department for permission to construct a landing station on Wake Island, in mid Pacific.

Wake Island only came under the jurisdiction of the Navy Department on January 19. Prior to that date, the Navy had depended upon Guam as the only half-way coaling station in the Pacific Ocean.

Guam is too far south for the projected air line, but Wake Island is almost on a direct line to Canton, China. Unless permission to use the island is obtained, the operating company will have to plot an indirect and much less convenient course for its flying boats.

The proposed air route is already well on its way towards the inauguration and the first plane probably test fly the course in Spring.

When finally in operation, Pan-American Airways will carry mail and passengers over what will immediately become the best overseas route in the world. The first plane for the service has already been delivered by Sikorsky Company and is being tested daily in California. Several sister ships are being built.

The new planes are developments of the «Clippers» that have been used in the Caribbean service for many years. The original

Out Of My Head
by HARRY GALLAND

The gallant old Bey of Tunis must be an interesting fellow to meet. But I don't want to meet him at the moment, thank you!

I don't, that is, if he has any idea of what has been going on in these parts since the news of his latest feat reached Palma. You remember the news, of course.

There was some trouble with the Communists in Tunis a few weeks ago, when the Reds surrounded the Bey's suite and forced them to listen to inflammatory speeches against the government, while the Bey was at his devotions in the Mosque.

That incident went off without too many reverberations, but the most recent aroused considerable comment. The Bey, some days ago, was surrounded by a mob of Communists. This time the crowd was in an ugly temper, and in the temporary absence of the customary gendarmes, the Bey himself was forced to use his fists in an effort to fight clear of them. The effort was most successful.

No sooner had this latest news concerning the Bey reached Palma than El Ganchoero contracted a dreamy look around the eyes. El Ganchoero is also known as The Lunatic Limerickist. The symptoms were obvious, and within a few seconds, as those around him took cover, El Ganchoero gave birth to the following:

There was once a belligerent Bey—
In Tunis he dwelt, by the way—
When assaulted by Reds
He sallied in and broke heads—
Bismillah! Hot Towel! Attabey!

Now, that sort of thing couldn't be allowed to go on indefinitely.
Therefore, in a thoroughly worthy effort to put a stop to it, the following was given out to a waiting world by your humble correspondent, who asks forgiveness:

There was an old Bey of Tunis
Who considered all Reds crazy lunis.
So he rushed from his harem
Shouting loudly «I'll scare» And made 'em see stars and munis.

Well, as I said higher up, the gallant old Bey must be an interesting fellow to meet, but now you can quite understand why, if he has any idea of what has been going on in Palma since the news of his feat reached here, I would rather not meet him at the moment.

SOLDIER DEAD IN FORT

Gunner José Martínez Sánchez, a member of the detachment of artillery stationed at the Torre d'En Pau, died there as the result of a strange accident on Tuesday.

The soldier was sitting near a brazier to warm himself, and it is supposed that the fumes caused his death by asphyxiation. He was found dead beside the brazier by another soldier.

The latter suffered so severe a shock on realising that his comrade was dead that he fainted. He fell on top of the brazier and was severely burned.

Other soldiers removed him and attended to his hurts. The double accident was at once reported to the officer in charge of the fort.

WORLD EVENTS IN BRIEF

LONDON, Thursday

The weather here yesterday was cloudy, with only two hours sunshine, a minimum temperature of 37 and a maximum of 46 degrees Fahrenheit.

ROME, Thursday

The first big snowfall since 1895 took place yesterday here and in adjacent parts of Italy. Men are engaged in clearing the streets in Naples, and Vesuvius is snowcapped.

NEW YORK, Thursday

Many deaths are reported as the result of the intense cold wave which covers the eastern portion of the United States. Heavy snowfalls have made necessary the engagement of 22,000 relief workers to clear the streets. The temperatures recorded are so low as to break the record established for fifty years.

ANTANANARIVO, Thursday

The French aviators MM. Genin and Robert Laurent, who left Paris on Saturday flying a 360 horsepower monoplane without wireless, have created a new record for the flight to Madagascar by arriving here after three days, thirteen hours and eighteen minutes.

MANCHESTER, Thursday

The negotiations for a weavers' wages agreement, which have been continuing since last July, are virtually completed. Only minor details remain for settlement, and it is understood that after a statement by Mr. Grey, chairman of the Cotton Spinners' and Manufacturers' Association a report will be made to the respective organisations tomorrow.

«Clippers» were twin-motored amphibians, but they have already been superseded by a larger type with four engines. It is upon this four-motored craft that the planes for the China service are based.

Because of the long overseas hops on the route, the new planes are heavy flying boats with hulls so strong that a forced landing would not mean great risk to the passengers, even in heavy weather. They will carry full equipment for repairs at sea.

LATE SPORTS NEWS

MONTE CARLO, Thursday

Lieutenant Cathcart Jones, who with Mr. Waller recently made the record flight from England to Australia and back, was the first driver to arrive here yesterday in the motor car rally. Lieutenant Jones arrived at 8:30 a. m., having driven his Lagonda car 2,300 miles since leaving Stavanger on Saturday.

The award of the prizes in the rally will be decided in the eliminating tests today. Of the 165 cars which started for Monte Carlo from various parts of Europe, 102 arrived on time. The greatest number of casualties was on the Southern European route, where extreme wintry conditions checked progress.

PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA

The Madrid Philharmonic Orchestra, one of the capital's two great symphony orchestras is to visit Palma at the beginning of next month.

Señor Pérez Casas, director of the Filarmónica, controls a group of 90 skilled musicians. The difficulty of finding space for them all on provincial platforms, apart from other considerations, forced a slight reduction in their numbers when the orchestra goes on tour, but sufficient elements to render a first class performance of practically any composition will be present for the three concerts which are to be given here.

They will take place at the Teatro Lírico on February 4, 5 and 6. The first, on the Monday, will be an evening performance, and the last a matinée. The time of the concert on Tuesday, February 5, has not yet been fixed, as the management of the Lírico is waiting for subscribers to make known their preference before deciding. The Madrid Philharmonic Orchestra gave a series of concerts in Palma last year, the memory of which is still green among those who attended them. A visit from Señor Pérez Casas and the body of musicians which he leads is an event of the first importance in the musical life of any city, and it is expected that Palma's music lovers will pack the theatre to capacity on all three occasions.
