ON THE ISLAND

A Mediterranean climate, according to the geography books, is one in which all the rain comes in winter. This year though they seem to have got the seasons completely mixed, and all the rain that we didn't get all winter fell on the first three days of last week.

So of course two cruise ships picked Monday morning to arrive in Palma—the German motor liner Monte Rosa with 935 tourists from Tarragona and the British Strathmore with 600 more from Barcelona. The Strathmore, which was barely visible from El Terreno through the sheets of water that hid the far shore, turned tail and steamed right out again. The Germans were of sterner stuff. They landed in the afternoon and took a look round Palma, but an excursion to Sóller had to be cancelled and we understand over 150,-000 pesetas worth of business was lost.

NAUTICAL:-

The Gneisenau, which was due to arrive on Monday night, actually arrived in the very small hours of Tuesday morning. She embarked, among others, Mrs. Ethel Rogers, Mrs. Muriel Lareton, Miss Vera Palmer, Miss Elizabeth Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Bjorck, Col. Bernard, Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell, Col. and Mrs. Molesworth, Mrs. Chamberlin, Mrs. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Weston and Mrs. Massay, the last three from Pollensa.

DEPARTURES:-

The Bibby liner Worcestershire, also here on Tuesday, took away Miss A. L. Sturrock and Miss M. M. Sturrock, Mr. and Mrs. Mendelssohn, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Summerfield, Miss M. N. Whitney and Miss A. M. Whitney, Miss L. Sherwood, Miss E. F. Dobson, Mr. C. G. Dobson, the Hon. E. Ritchie, Mr. R. Doeg and Mr. C. Elliott, the last two bound for Gibraltar.

The Marnix van St. Aldegonde, which called on Friday, embarked Mr. Ernest Guetta-Sheriff for Gibraltar, where he is Consul for Uruguay, Mr. and Mrs. Bowen-Rowlands of Wales, Mr. and Mrs. Hammond, Doctor, Mrs. and Miss Corbett, Mrs. Shipton, Miss Irene and Miss Frances Shipton from the Chalfont House and Miss Rosina Motto, who had been staying at the Hotel Calamayor.

ARRIVALS:-

Among the passengers landed by the Llandovery Castle on Wednesday were the Hon, David and Mrs. Balfour, Sir R. and Lady Lakin, Lieut.-Col. J. C. Gitzgerald, Doctor and Mrs. Williams, Doctor, Mrs. and Miss Belshaw. The Burma brought Mr. and Mrs. Drummend, who were headed for Camp de Mar.

Other arrivals include Mrs. Gladys Kidd and her two daughters (their two dolls were with them), Mrs. W. Randall, Mr. and Mrs. Beckett and their two daughters, Major and Mrs. E. Chanter and Miss Chanter, Mr. and Mrs. Knight, Mr. Edward Schmuck and Miss Schmuck, and Miss Russell. Mrs. Kidd reported that London was onderful, but very expensive and the weather there awful; while Mrs. Randall, who will be staying at Arenal for a month as the guest of the Rev. and Mrs. Faustmann, says that on Easter Sunday they built a snowman in her garden. Brrr...!

GOLD MINE:-

The Hon, and Mrs. Balfour, mentioned above, are from Tanganyika, where Mr. Balfour owns a gold mine. It is in the Chunja Mleja goldfield, which seems to be quite a rich one, and there are those among us who claim to have seen some quite large chunks of that excessively rare metal in the mineowner's possession.

In case you think of taking a look round Chunja Mleja to see if You can't find a small gold mine for yourself, the port to book for is Dar-es-Salaam.

ADD:

Additions to our list of departures are Mrs. Rina Cabbibe, Mrs Tyler and Miss Percy, both from Cala Ratjada, and Mr. Miller, who has been staying in El Terreno. They all intend to return soon.

Also Mrs. Lindemann, who was due to leave on Friday to join Mr. and Mrs. Regnault and to put her young daughter in a summer camp in France.

MADRID BOMB OUTRAGE

COURT SENTENCES TWO MEN

LONG TERMS

The Tribunal de Urgencia here condemned Nicasio Rivagorda Pérez to twenty-six years, eleven months and eleven days imprisonment for causing damage by means of explosives, and Adolfo Burzaco Iturbe to two years, eleven months and eleven days for illegal possession of explosives, on Wednesday at the conclusion of the trial which was the sequel to the bomb outrage at the flat of Don Eduardo Ortega y Gasset last April.

Both men were further sentenced to two years, eleven months and eleven days for unlawful possession of firearms, and Rivagorda was ordered to pay 25,000 pesetas to Señor Ortega y Gasset and 6,000 to his landlord, Don Vicente

The bomb was taken to the home of Señor Ortega, who at that time was Deputy Mayor of Madrid, in a basket of eggs. The explosion destroyed furniture, blew out several walls and made a large hole in the floor. That no one was killed or seriosly injured was due to the presence of mind of Señora de Ortega, who when she noticed a suspicious-looking object in the basket threw a carpet over it and hurried her four children and two servants out of the flat.

A vital witness in the trial, which began on Tuesday, was Manuel Diaz, Rivagorda's stepson, who related how his stepfather sent him to the house with the basket, and how he lit the fuse of the bomb while he was going upstairs. He was recognised as the messenger by the portress of the house.

Doña Adela Gómez de Ortega described the delivery of the explosive package, and so did her husband, who was just leaving the flat for his office when it happened. Señor Ortega explained that the boy said he had been sent by Don José Castañeda.

«As I do not know that gentleman,» he went on, «I told them to hand it back, but the boy had already gone. The bomb exploded soon after.»

Señor Ortega expressed the opinion that the outrage was political in motive, and said that on the Unheard-of practice? Hardly. Miss Sullavan is singularly fortuthe use of soap and water remove the natural oils from the skin, but it lacks the power to penetrate deep into the pores. If your skin is inclined to be dry, it is impossible to expect to wash it very often with completely satisfactory results. On the other hand, I most heartily recommend washings with a good, mild facial soap and water just as often as your skin will stand them.

Without question, the current number one topic of agitation in Hollywood is the hair - darkening movement. Deserters have opened great gaps in the ranks of movie blondes. Some of our most glamor-

The British Government, the Foreign Secretary declared, does not repent the efforts which it has made to prevent the disregard of the Geneva Covenant by Italy, and is in complete agreement with the League's decision of last autumn declaring Italy the aggressor. On the other hand he pointed out that the present situation in Ethiopia can be modified only by military action. An attempt to reestablish the Ethiopian Empire would result in war in the Mediterranean, and no one could say that it could be localised there.

Gorki, whose real name was Alexis Maximovich Peshkow, was sixty-nine years old. In his youth he wandered all over eastern and southern Russia in search of work, and later he became involved in revolutionary activities which made it necessary for him to flee the country in 1906. At that time he became a friend of Lenin.

In spite of all this he was not looked upon with favour by the Soviet authorities until a few years ago, when a reconciliation took place. He returned to Russia and was received with all honours as «the writer of the poor.»

SEVILIAN POET

Radio Mallorca (EAJ 13) announces a special transmission to mark the hundredth anniversary of the birth of the poet Gustavo Adolfo Bécquer

The actual centenary was February 17. The date of the broadcast has not yet been fixed, but the are available.

Recitation of poems by Bécquer himself and other nineteenth century poets will naturally form the basis of the programme. There will also be a lecture by Don Miguel Angel Colomar, himself a poet, on «Bécquer and his influence on the regional literatures,» and Don Antonio Piña, whose talks are a familiar and popular feature of the local station's transmissions, will reminisce about Mallorquín literary figures of the fin de siècle, including Juan Alcover, Miguel de los Santos Oliver and the two Pous, Martin and Camilo.

Gustavo Adolfo Bécquer (1836-1870) was born in Seville and was of German descent on his father's side. (Stripped of its Spanish disguise his name is recognisable as Gustav Adolf Baecker.)

PASSING OF G. K. CHESTERTON

POET. HUMOURIST, CRUSADER

FRIEND OF SPAIN

Gilbert Keith Chesterton died in pesetas, motion picture, motor, suddenly of a heart attack at his radio and electric companies of the home at Beaconsfield, Bucks, on

The world-famous poet, essayist, dramatist, critic and author of detective stories had been ill for a week. He was sixty-two years old.

«G. K. C.» was a Londoner, born in Kensington and educated at St. Paul's School and the Slade. From Seida is attemping to obtain reviewing books and art he graduated into authorship with his

> «The Man Who Was Thursday.» the first of the Father Brown detective novels and other early works sold well, but their author really achieved solid fame with «The Flying Inn» in 1914. He never ceased to be a journalist at heart, however, and the 1,300 articles which he had contributed to «The Illustrated London News» by 1931, when he celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his connection with that publication, represented by no means the whole of his activity in that field.

There were many aspects of Chesterton, without counting the collaboration which produced that strangely fertile hybrid the «Chesterbelloc.» Some admired in him the author of the detective stories in which the psychological intuition of Father Brown contrasted with Sherlock Holmes' materialistic classification of cigar-ashes. For others he was the Catholic convert and apologist of «Heretics» and «Saint Francis of Assisi»; or the rollicking poet who sang of pubs; or the serious poet of the epic «Ballad of the White Horse» and «Lepanto»; or the irresistible lecturer, debater and conversation-

Through all his works, however, runs a unity. His humour and his passion for paradox were a potent weapon in the hands of the controversionalist, no less than a piquant seasoning for the fantasies of «The Man Who Was Thursday» Hill.» Nor is propaganda absent from his most boisterous songs in praise of wine or in condemnation of vegetarianism.

The Spanish press this week ing the memory of the English poet both as a defender of the Catholic Faith and as a friend of Spain. In particular the Madrid papers recall his visits to Madrid and Barcelona in 1925, when he gave several lectures and enjoyed would, I believe, eventually succeed the society of many Spanish intellectual leaders.

«The Spaniards,» said G. K. C. on his return to London from that journey, «discovered America; but the English have not yet discovered Spain.»

same result. So he put through another call, this time to the police to report the incident.

The same afternoon Marcial Lalanda received a telephone call, and his caller also gave the name of the Communist Deputy. The self-styled Señor Díaz said he needed to talk with Lalanda immediately on a matter connected with the dispute between the Mexican toreros and the Associación de Matadores de Toros y Novillos, of which Lalanda is President; and would he come at once to a certain café in the Gran Vía?

«If I can't be there,» went on the voice, «my secretary will. Don't be surprised if he's poorly dressed. He's a working man.»

After consulting with other members of the Committee of the Bullfighters' Association, Lalanda sent his manager, Señor Barrera, to keep the appointment for him. The other Committeemen went

The prisoner «confessed» that he had been hired by a bullfighting empresario to kill Lalanda for 2,000 pesetas. He added that his brother Nemesio was in the plot.

Nemesio Cerezo, on being questioned, denied the story and said theory. it was very likely just a scheme of Fernando's to obtain money from the toreros. As Fernando had been released only five days before from prison, where he had

Crops were destroyed and the lower floors of houses flooded in those places also.

Similar tales of destruction come from Calatayud and Teruel in Aragon, Zamora and Avila in Old Castile, Toledo in New Castile, Valencia and Murcia. In the last named city the river Segura rose three and a half metres above its ordinary level, the irrigation reservoirs at Fuensanta and Talave proving far too small for the masses of water poured into them. Señor Ochoa, who conducted the prosecution, maintained that Rivagorda was the actual author of the outrage, and that Burzaco was the liaison agent between him and the parties employing him. The explosives and money found in Burzaco's possession were the principal arguments adduced in support of this contention.

Burzaco's counsel, Don Francisco Javier Ortiz maintained that neither this nor his client's friendship with Rivagorda was sufficient proof of complicity, and therefore he could be found guilty only of possession of arms and exasked for the minimum sentence.

Don Florencio Salamero, who defended Rivagorda, claimed that his client was not responsible for his actions. The reasons he gave were «mental aberration produced acted under the impulse of an irresistible force.»

The Court found Burzaco not guilty on the charge of causing damage, and Rivagorda on that ji Islands, a Spanish gunboat wa of possession of explosives. On the remaining counts judgment was but found instead that a mistake given as above.
