ITALO-ETHIOPIAN DISPUTE COMPLAINT TO LEAGUE

PLACED ON AGENDA

GENEVA, Thursday

The dispute between Ethiopia and Italy over frontier incidents on the borders of the former country and Italian Somaliland figures unexpectedly today in the agenda of the Council of the League of Nations.

The Ethiopian minister in Paris, who is also his country's representative here, has handed his government's memorandum on the frontier incidents to M. Avenol, Secretary General of the League, with the request that the matter should be placed in the agenda. M. Avenol at once complied with the request.

The Ethiopian representative's surprise action is generally attributed here to French encouragement. Ethiopia had hitherto refrained from taking that step on the advice of most of the great powers.

No request has been made for the matter to be dealt with as one of urgency. Hopes therefore are still entertained that an amicable settlement may be reached.

Right Reserved

On his arrival here for the first session of the present meeting of the Council, the representative of Ethiopia informed M. Avenol that he reserved the right to raise the question of Italo-Ethiopian dispute at any time before the end of the meeting. It was believed at the time that he had been instructed

SAINT ANTHONY ANIMALS BLESSED IN PALMA

The Feast of Saint Anthony, patron saint of animals throughout the world, was celebrated in Palma yesterday in the manner prescribed by the tradition of centuries.

The ceremony of blessing the saint's charges was performed at 9 a.m. in the Calle de San Miguel, in front of the church of San Antonio de Viana, by the parish priest. Long before that hour peasants from the surrounding countryside were on their way to Palma, driving their gaily decorated carts towards the city and bringing their horses, mules, donkeys and other beasts to receive the benediction.

The street before Saint Anthony's church was strewn with greenery, and the slow procession past the door was a gay spectacle. Besides the peasants' vehicles, there were sulkies drawn by the steeds which take part in the trotting races at the Hipódromo and many decorated cars.

Nor were beasts of burden the only pilgrims, for Saint Anthony, according to the popular Mallorquin rime, is the protector of all animals, «both of hair and of feather». Moreover, he is traditionally accompanied by a pig in his pictures and statues, and the Mallorquin porker could not fail to be represented.

Each beast was led or persuaded to pass before the priest, who blessed it. The owner, before passing on, made a contribution in money to the church funds.

HANDING OVER THE SAAR LEAGUE COUNCIL MEETS

REPORT OF THREE

GENEVA, Thursday

The Council of the League of Nations is to meet here today to consider its final decisions giving effect to the result of the Saar plebiscite.

Hopes that the matter would be disposed of in the course of yesterday were dispelled when it was announced that the Council session called for 4 p.m. had been postponed. It is hoped that both the fundamental issue of reincorporation of the Saar territory in the Reich and that of the date of the actual transfer of control will be settled in today's session.

The Saar committee of three met for one hour late yesterday afternoon, and its chairman Baron Aloisi, stated afterwards that the committee had redrafted its report to the Council of the League, containing its recommendations based on the plebiscite result. No further details were disclosed, but it is understood that the new draft of the report has been handed the German consul here, who passed it on to Berlin.

Laval Hopeful

A statement giving the views of the Reich government on the report is expected to arrive here today before the opening of the council session, which is timed for 4 p.m. M. Laval, the French Foreign Minister, expressed himself optimistically in conversation with French newspaper representatives here yesterday, saying that full agreement between France and Germany on the Saar issue would probably be reached by today.

It that case, M. Laval added, the Saar question will immediately be put on the agenda of the Council, and there will be a good prospect of the entire issue being settled satisfactorily before the end of the week. France is understood to be willing for the transfer to take place on March 1, but only on condition that all outstanding questions have been settled by then.

The report handed in by Baron Aloisi on behalf of the committee of three consists of only two typewritten pages. It points out that the result of the plebiscite has been to create an absolutely clear situation, and that merely a few questions of minor importance remain to be settled, notably that

LORD RIDDELL'S WILL BEQUESTS TO WELL KNOWN MEN

LONDON, Thursday

The will of the late Lord Riddell, the well known newspaper proprietor, was proved today for £1,538,901 gross. Of this amount approximately £874,021 must be paid in duties.

In his will Lord Riddell made several large charitable bequests. Some famous men and women, as well as practically all of his former employees, are among the numerous legatees.

Lloyd George receives a legacy of £1,000, while Winston Churchill receives a similar amount. Of the men and women known in political and civil life, these two head the list.

One-third of the residue of the estate is left to the Newspaper Press Fund, one-third to the Royal Free Hospital, one-sixth to the Printers' Pension Fund, and one-sixth between the Solicitors' Benevolent Association and the Managing Clerks' Association.

Lord Riddell died at the height of his powers and at the crest of his amazing career. He was the owner of numerous newspaper properties, the most famous of which was «The News of the World.»

That paper claims the largest circulation in the world, the certified net sale being 3,350,000. It is issued only on Sunday, and specializes in personal news of the great and near-great, as well as stories from the law courts, which are contributed by most of the police reporters of Fleet Street.

BRITAIN AND JAPAN

F. B. I. APPOINTS COMMITTEE

TRADE RELATIONS

The British Federation of Industries has appointed a representative committee to confer with Japanese business men on commercial relationships between their respective countries.

Lord Barnby is the chairman of the committee, which was appointed in accordance with one of the proposals made by the members of the recent mission of the British Federation of Industries to the Far East. The principal concern of the new body will be to maintain contact with the committee already appointed by the Japanese Economic Federation in Tokio.

Both committees have as their aim to consider jointly the problems affecting the general industrial relations between Britain and Japan. They will also offer their good offices to any individual industries which may desire to enter into discussions with a view to the solution of the problems which confront them.

Precedent

A notable precedent for such discussions was provided by last year's cotton conference between representatives of the British, Japanese and Indian manufacturers, the object of which was to share markets and attenuate competition in India and the East generally. The chief result was an arrangement between India and Japan for the exchange of

NEW GERMAN SHIPS FOR FAR EAST

HAMBURG, Thursday

The 18,000 ton express steamer Potsdam, which was built in the shipyards of Blom and Voss for the Hamburg-Amerika Line for Far Eastern trade was launched here yesterday amid the usual excitement.

Present for the launching were the burgomasters of Potsdam and Hamburg and numerous other representatives of the state and municipal authorities, as well as all the men who had a hand in the building of the vessel.

The new ship is 635 feet long, 82 feet wide, and will be equipped with turbines generating 26,000 h.p., giving her an average cruising speed of 21 knots. It is thus expected that she will make the trip from Genoa to Shanghai in 23 days.

The Potsdam, which will accommodate 300 passengers, is of the same type as two more new liners, the Scharnhorst and the Greisenau, which are now being built at Bremen for the North German Lloyd, and are also to be put on the Far East route.

German passenger shipping underwent a complete merger in the manner of the Italian merger under Mussolini, at the outset of the Nazi regime. The measure was intended to reduce competition, meet the low freight and passenger rates of other countries, and thus defeat the inroads the depression was making in Germany as in other nations.

The scheme however did not work out, and two weeks ago a peremptory order to split the company into the original five was given out by the government. The

COUNT KEYSERLING VISITS MALLORCA

Count Hermann von Keyserling, the celebrated Estonian philosopher, was scheduled to arrive in Mallorca yesterday morning.

His visit is expected to be a short one. The Associació per la Cultura de Mallorca however is endeavouring to arrange for him to give a lecture in Palma before he leaves, and it is confidently expected that the lecture will take place.

Count Keyserling is the director of the famous «School of Wisdom» at Darmstadt, which he founded 15 years ago. His many published works include the titles «Travel Journal of a Philosopher», «Spectral Analysis of Europe» and «Creative Knowledge».

He is no stranger to the Island, where he conducted a «philosophy week» at Formentor in March, 1931. He was assisted on that occasion by several members of the Mallorquin intelligentsia, as well as Peninsular writers and thinkers of more than national reputation. Among them were Don Ramón Gómez de la Serna, Don José María Sagarra, Don Carlos Soler, and Don Gabriel Alomar.

Herr Keyserling also gave lectures in Palma during that week. They were given at the «Donde Artis» under the aegis of a group of Palmans whose object was to raise the intellectual level of the city, and were a great success. Similar success has attended lecture tours of the Darmstadt philosopher in the many countries which he has visited, including the United States. Last year he gave a series of lectures at the Conferencia Club in Barcelona, which aroused the keenest interest.

AFTER ROME

The visit of MM. Flandin and Laval to London, which was airtily in the air before the latter's meeting with Signor Mussolini in Rome, has now been officially confirmed and a date has been set for their journey.

The opinion was expressed towards the close of the long and difficult negotiations between Rome
and Paris that they would break down, and that the London conversations were intended to cover up the fiasco and save the face of the Quai d'Orsay. The triumphant return of the French foreign minister, his briefcase stuffed with protocols bearing the signature of the Duce, was a crushing reply to the prophets of woe.

It now appears rather as if the London meeting is intended to consolidate the advances made at Rome and explore, tentatively at least, some of the avenues leading towards a more stable and contented Europe. M. Laval and Signor Mussolini between them have opened up.

Warnings purporting to come from authoritative sources, have been uttered against expecting any concrete developments as the immediate sequel of the interviews between the French premier and foreign ministers and Sir John Simon and his colleagues. One is given to understand that the results of their discussions will not be seen until later, and encouraged to hope that they will be worth waiting for.

That hope will be fulfilled if,
as M. Laval's attitude suggests, there is a chance of securing an agreement on armaments which will not leave Germany sulking apart. Such a development would deal the final blow to the dangerous isolation of the country whose fears of «encirclement» were, if not the sole cause, at least one of the chief causes of the war of 1914-18.

The removal of the Saar dispute from the international sphere into that of German domestic affairs has removed one of the worst obstacles to that nation's return to normal relationships with her neighbours. The sooner the process is completed the better.

ON THE ISLAND

By The Wayfarer

A part of the carnival program has been announced by the Palma society known as the Asistencia Palmesana. Palma's annual carnival has always proved of interest to the foreign colony, so it is not amiss to give some of the details
at this time.

MASKED BALL:—

On Saturday of this week the Asistencia Palmesana will hold its first masked ball. The ball will begin shortly before midnight and will continue well into the early morning. Members of the foreign colony may attend by invitation of members of the society.

CARNIVAL:—

The same society will celebrate the carnival with the following affairs: Saturday, January 26, second masked ball; Saturday, February 2, third masked ball; Sunday, February 3, family party; to be followed by masked balls and parties on most of the Saturdays and Sundays during February and March. On Sunday, February 24, the first grand carnival party will be held.

OLDTIMERS LEAVE:—

Miss Marguerite Jac, the talented dancer, and her mother, Mrs.
Fleischmann have departed from Mallorca. They have been in residence here for many years during which time they have both made many friendships. Their friends on the Island hope that mother and daughter will soon decide to return to Mallorca.

Miss Jac expects to return to the Nice opera company, where she was formerly an outstanding member of the ballet. Mrs. Fleischmann will remain with relatives in

Out Of My Head

by HARRY GALLAND

The personal attention-caller of this department awoke from his lethargy long enough this morning to show me the latest gambling story. The p. a.-c. is aware of my liking for such bits of news, as he is aware of the rest of my tastes. That is what he is paid his fabulous salary for.

This latest story is from Monte Carlo, where it happened in the famous Casino. It is the first from that source I have seen this season, which means that the publicity department of that establishment is slackening considerably.

Not that I don't implicitly believe all such stories that I happen to hear. Don't misunderstand me.
But that is neither here nor there.
Let us proceed to the story.

A corpse at a Casino table is the latest sensation of the world-famous gambling center, says the report. He wasn't placed there by a waggish management. He walked in.

He was alive when he entered the famous «kitchen» or main room, and he wasn't particularly noteworthy. He was an Englishman, not unlike many thousands of others of his type on the Riviera, and his name and address
are not given in the report.

Last Tuesday the gentleman proceeded to lose about a quarter of a million francs. It may have been a half million, for all I know, since the Casino authorities are so careless with their figures in these press reports of happenings
in their domain.

Be that as it may, it was a considerable sum of money. During the afternoon, the gentleman placed his last chip on number 28.
Then he sank his head in his hands in a dejected manner.

What happened? The bright-looking lad in the third row seems to know. Yes, Willie, that's right
—number 28 won.

The dejected gentleman didn't seem to care. He left his stake and his winnings on 28. The wheel spun again. The croupier announced the winning number—Willie, sit down, I know you know—it was 28.

The croupier called the attention of the gentleman with his head in his hands to his winnings,
by this time a considerable pile.
But the gentleman paid no attention. The Chef de Jeu shook him by the shoulder—and discovered that he was dead. He had died of heart failure.

Now, that is the story which my personal attention-caller brought to my notice, and that is the way
it appeared in the paper. The p. a.-c. made no comment on the story, for he is not paid to do that.

But I am not surprised by it.
And I think it is a pretty good yarn. Should it turn out by any chance to be true, though, I should die of heart failure. But that wouldn't be a story for the press.

Nice and will then proceed to California.

FROM EGYPT:—

Mr. Charles Henry Rowlatt is stopping at the Mediterráneo Hotel, having arrived on the Island
a short while ago from England.
Mr. Rowlatt makes his home in Egypt. He is here for a holiday and may remain until the end of the present season.

AUTO vs. PLANE:—

In a race against time, Mr. A.
E. Bennett set out from Palma Wednesday morning, bound for Alcudia and the plane to Marsel-les. His car showed signs of weakening when Mr. Bennett was halfway between Palma and the other side of the Island. A final breakdown caused him almost to miss the plane. As it was he arrived at the airport with about one minute to spare. During his stay here,
Mr. Bennett was a guest at the Calamayor Hotel. He is on his way to Paris and thence to London.

MR. FAY LEAVES:—

The well known proprietor of Tito's left for Barcelona on the Tuesday night sailing. Mr. Fay expects to return to the Island within a short time.

VIENNA F. C. IN PALMA

The famous Vienna football team of the «Wien F.C.», which is to meet the local «Constancia» club at Inca on Sunday, January 20, will be seen in play on the Buenos Aires ground in Palma on Saturday, January 19.

The Austrian footballers are expected to arrive in Palma on Friday, leaving immediately for Inca. Both their matches are with their hosts of the «Constancia», and Sunday's match will be on the latter's home ground at Es Cos, Inca.

All the local clubs which have fixtures on Saturday and Sunday are expected to cancel or postpone them in order to allow their players to watch the encounters between the Inca club and the visitors.

The «Constancia» directors are arranging special trains from Palma to Inca, and for tickets for the matches to be on sale in Palma. Players affiliated to local clubs will be allowed a considerable reduction on the price of admission to the field, as the matches are expected to provide the kind of play the sight of which is a part of a footballer's education.

The Austrian team recently played five matches against local teams in the Canary Islands, and won four of them. Spanish press comment on their play declares them to be if anything a better team than the British players of the Everton club, whose visit to Spain is remembered as an outstanding event in the annals of the game in the Peninsula.

The «Wien F.C.» normally employs a style of play based on short and rapid passing, which according to one critic is as effective and scientific as that of the British players, but more artistic and restrained. The Austrian's knowledge of football technique is described as perfect.

WORLD EVENTS IN BRIEF

LONDON, Thursday

The quarterly return of Lloyd's Register, issued today, shows that construction of British merchant shipping was 80 per cent greater at the end of December than at the end of the previous year. The British total of new shipping in hand is 596,834 tons, which represents 47.7 per cent of the world's total and exceeds the aggregate output of the seven leading countries abroad.

WASHINGTON, Thursday

A reciprocal tariff treaty with Brazil has been drawn up, but awaits final signatures pending the arrival in Washington of the Brazilian Finance Mission.

ITALO-ETHIOPIAN DISPUTE

to await the result of the direct negotiations begun by the Ethiopian Chargé d'Affaires in Rome.

Signor Mussolini's decision to grant the Chargé d'Affaires the interview which he had asked for when the frontier incidents were first reported was hailed as removing the ominous complexion which the Duce's previous attitude had given to the affair. The Ethiopian government addressed itself to the League of Nations in the first place because of the Italian refusal to negotiate on any basis except an initial assumption of Ethiopian responsibility for the clashes.

NEW GERMAN SHIPS

Nazi dictator of shipping was also removed from his post, while the various company chairmen were reinstated.

The building of the three ships all intended for the Far East trade is seen in international shipping circles as a German bid for the Japanese markets which Great Britain is now also engaged in cultivating.

The trade commission just appointed in London is expected to counteract somewhat the effect of the German passenger ships on the minds of Japanese merchants.

The ceremony was followed by the usual procession through the Rambla and the Borne, reached by a side street as the customary route by the Calle de los Olmos was closed for road work. Prizes are given annually for the best decorated cars in the parade by the Sociedad Hípica, which has taken over the organization of the day's festivities since its foundation.

LONDON, Thursday

Under the leadership of the Archbishop of Canterbury, a committee consisting of representatives of 46 organisations from all parts of England has been formed to purge the country of undesirable films, through the application of sharper supervision and censorship. A delegation sent by this committee has waited on Mr. MacDonald, and handed over a memorandum demanding the appointment of a parliamentary enquiry committee. Mr. MacDonald has promised to give the memorandum his attention and will consider the possibility of eliminating from the cinema films which are prejudicial to public morals.

cotton from India for Japanese piece goods.

The British manufacturers failed to secure a satisfactory arrangement with the Japanese, but there exists a strong current of opinion in Lancashire in favour of making another attempt. One of the consequences of the failure was the imposition of discriminatory duties against Japanese goods in many British Dominions and Crown Colonies, as well as in the United Kingdom.

LINDBERGH TRIAL

FLEMINGTON, New Jersey

The eleventh day of the trial of Bruno Hauptman for the murder of the Lindbergh baby was occupied by the taking of evidence of handwriting experts. All of the experts were emphatic in stating that the accused wrote the ransom notes and that the defense that they were forged could not be borne out.

ADELAIDE, Thursday

The British lawn tennis player Perry won his last match in Australia by defeating Turnbull in the triangular international contest, which resulted in three victories each for Great Britain and Australia and two for France. The British women have won every event against Australia.

NAPLES, Thursday

The volcano at Solfatara, dormant since the 12th century, has erupted, ejecting huge quantities of boiling mud and small stones.

LENINGRAD, Thursday

An «abject confession» of guilt in complicity in the murder of Kiroff, Soviet Commissar, was made at the sensational trial yesterday by one of the accused, Yevdomikoff, who was formerly a leading member of the Communist Party. The murder, the prisoner is reported to have said, had been systematically prepared for years by spreading false reports. He concluded with the statement that «We are all guilty of stirring up the masses against the Soviet government and Stalin and must shoulder our responsibility accordingly.»

HANDING OVER THE SAAR

of the future employment of the functionaries serving under the governing commission in the Saar. Should agreement be reached today, M. Laval will content himself with a short declaration at the session of the Council. His speech will be in part a reply to Herr Hitler's latest utterances on the Saar.

Those who have enjoyed the opportunity of hearing him say that Count von Keyserling is more effective as a lecturer than as a writer, and even more effective and impressive as a conversationalist. He himself said on one occasion, «I can say things in an hour which would need a volume of 800 pages to be written in.»

Lord Riddell attributed his success as a journalist to the fact that he had an insatiable curiosity. He also had a happy faculty of drawing the stories of their lives from almost anyone he met, no matter from what station in life they came.

SEÑOR YANGUAS ON ROME

MADRID, Thursday

Señor Yanguas, a Spanish mer minister of state, welcomed the agreement signed recently between M. Laval and Benito Mussolini, and pointed out its importance for Spain in a press interview here.

The pact of Rome, he declared is yet another proof of the political genius of Mussolini, and the deep realistic sense of French diplomacy.

Its principal effect is to guarantee the independence of Africa. Señor Yanguas pointed out, however that there still remains the task of finding an economic basis which will enable that country, shorn of most of its area, to shoulder the peace treaties and burden with a capital city of disproportionate size, to make a living.

The pact, he went on, clears the political horizon of Europe, of special importance for Spain in its relation to the situation in the western part of the Mediterranean, together with the Straits of Gibraltar and the international city of Tangier.

The latter has the Spanish of Morocco as its hinterland, the powers interested in it in France and Italy, as well as Spain and Britain. Spain is naturally interested in the maintenance of friendly relations between its neighbours in Africa, the more especially as one of the Rome protocols concerned the problems at issue between France and Italy on that continent.

Spanish interests, according to Señor Yanguas, must be kept distant from those of the other powers. Constant vigilance and a well directed policy on the part of the Spanish government are necessary to attain that end.
